

I don't want to be the last generation.

I am a Nebraskan and I am the sixth generation to live and work on this ranch, break horses and raise cattle. That's what I was born to do. But now, folks are talking about the direction the cattle industry is moving, how the independent producer is being eliminated. They say it's probably best if I look for a different way to make a living. My forefathers shed a lot of blood, sweat and tears settling these hills. I want to be a part of my heritage. I say let's fight back. My family has decided to do whatever it takes to make that happen.
